

Love's Journey

From Proposal to Promise

PROOF

Poetry by
CYRIL EDWIN

NEWSMAN PUBLICATIONS

Anna Nagar, Madurai-20

Mob: 9080330200

Love's Journey

From Proposal to Promise

Poet

CYRIL EDWIN

NEWSMAN PUBLICATIONS

43, Unicorn Complex, Kuruvikaran Salai,
Anna Nagar, Madurai-625020.
Mob: 9080330200

First Edition : October 2024

Pages: 40

© CYRIL EDWIN

Print : Newsman Book Printers, Madurai

ISBN : 978-93-48337-92-4

RS.50/-

Dedication

I dedicate this book, Love's Journey, to my wife, whose support and love inspire me every day. To all those who have faced the trials of love, who have weathered storms with resilience, I hope you find strength in your journey and embrace the promises ahead— may your path be filled with hope, transformation, and deep connection.

---

About the Poet

---

Cyril Edwin R is a poet born on December 8, 1998, in the vibrant city of Thiruchirappali, Tamil Nadu. He holds a master's degree from Urumu Dhanalakshmi College in Kattur, Trichy, where his passion for language and literature flourished. With a pen as his compass, Cyril navigates the landscapes of emotion, memory, and imagination, crafting verses that resonate deeply with readers. His poetry is a tapestry of personal experiences and cultural reflections, drawing inspiration from the world around him. Married to his muse, Sagayamary, he finds in her the spark that ignites his creativity. Cyril's work invites readers to pause, reflect, and discover the profound beauty hidden in everyday life, revealing the extraordinary in the seemingly mundane.

Tributes

I extend my heartfelt gratitude to my wife for your unwavering love and support, which has been my greatest motivation throughout this journey. Your belief in me has been a source of strength, encouraging me to pursue my passion. I also want to thank my teachers, family, and friends who have trusted in me and shaped my path; your guidance has been invaluable, helping me grow in ways I never imagined. To the poets and authors who have paved the way, your words inspired me to explore the beauty and complexity of love. This book is a reflection of all of you—each one has contributed to its creation. Thank you for being part of this journey; your influence will always resonate in my work.

Quotation

"To navigate the landscape of love is to embrace both the beauty and the burden; to emerge from trials not unscathed, but transformed. In the depths of struggle, we uncover the true essence of connection, where each promise forged in hardship becomes a beacon of hope."

Preface

In a world that often glorifies the idealized moments of love, we frequently overlook the rich tapestry woven from the threads of vulnerability, struggle, and growth. “Love’s Journey: From Proposal to Promise” invites you to step beyond the conventional narratives and delve into the authentic experiences that shape our most cherished relationships.

This collection of poems reflects the profound complexity of love, capturing its joys and sorrows with an unflinching gaze. Each verse speaks to the myriad emotions we encounter along our journey—from the exhilaration of a heartfelt proposal to the weighty promises that define our commitments. In the delicate interplay of pain and joy, we find the true essence of love: a journey marked not just by triumphs, but by the struggles that ultimately deepen our bonds.

As you turn the pages, you’ll encounter the raw beauty of love in all its forms—moments of apology, the weight of unspoken words, and the quiet understanding that arises from shared experiences. These poems celebrate the transformative power of love, urging us to embrace every facet of our connections, even when they challenge us.

I invite you to reflect on your own journey as you immerse yourself in these verses. May they inspire you to honor the complexities of love and appreciate the growth that emerges from both the highs and lows.

Welcome to “Love’s Journey.” Together, let us celebrate the profound, messy, and beautiful reality of loving and being loved.

“Table of Contents”

1. Promise Under the Stars
2. A Nature's Muse
3. In the heart of her struggles
4. A River's reflection
5. Hearts on a frozen Lake
6. Our Campus Love
7. The Trails of tomorrow's Bliss
8. Thresholds of eternity
9. Eve of Vows
10. In the light of regret
11. My pillar of strength
12. Shades of strength
13. The Ray That Marks Our Way
14. Veil of the dreaming Moon
15. How could I not see?
16. In the wake of broken promises
17. The unspoken words
18. A Candle and Confetti
19. The Lament of a lost heart
20. Mending hearts in the light of dawn
21. Blooming for you
22. In the Quiet of Conflict
23. Promises on the Cart
24. Shorty - The Heart of Mischief

A Promise Under Stars

In the soft glow of stained glass, I made my call,
With a heart full of hope, I whispered my plea,
She smiled, but said, "Say it where hearts can be."
In a sacred place, I waited long,
But shadows lingered; she was yet to come along.

Hope fluttered in the silence, a soft refrain,
Refusing to accept this bittersweet pain.
Her friend led the way, a beacon of light,
Like a compass to warmth, illuminating the night.

A gentle breeze whispered secrets through the night,
With just a few stars, flickering, shining bright.
And then I saw her-eyes like pools of light,
In that moment, time stood still, pure and bright.

"Here I am," I breathed, I whispered, my heart laid bare,
In that tender moment, the world vanished from care.
With every heartbeat, our destinies entwined,
I found my courage, and my heart overflowed.

A Nature's Muse

Her eyes, like pools of autumn leaves,
Reflecting warmth, the heart believes,
Sparkling gems in the twilight's glow,
Holding stories of joy we know.

Her lips, like petals, full and sweet,
Soft and lush, where laughter meets,
Each smile a sunrise, bright and bold,
Whispering secrets, treasures untold.

Her neck, a gentle curve of grace,
Like the soft arch of a flower's base,
Embraced by warmth, inviting and kind,
A harmony that leaves peace behind.

Her cheeks, round as the full moon's light,
Glowing softly, a beautiful sight,
Kissed by the sun, they radiate cheer,
Bringing joy and laughter near.

Her fingers, like branches of a sturdy tree,
Strong and tender, they dance so free,
Tracing the air with a playful grace,
Creating magic in every space.

Her hips, like hills that gently rise,
Soft and inviting, a feast for the eyes,
Curves that echo the land's sweet sigh,
A landscape where dreams can fly.

Her legs, like paths through a blooming field,
Strong and vibrant, their beauty revealed,
With every step, a joyful beat,
A dance that makes the world feel complete.

Her feet, like petals on a soft breeze,
Treading lightly where hearts find ease,
Each step a melody on grass so green,
Marking the journey, a joyful scene.

Her fragrance, like blossoms after rain,
A rich bouquet that lingers, sweet and plain,
Filling the air with life's pure song,
In her presence, the world feels strong.

In her, the beauty of nature's embrace,
A timeless muse, a warm, soft grace.
With every glance, the wild awakens,
In her essence, pure love is taken.

In The Heart of Her Struggles

In the trails of her childhood's plight,
She bore the weight, her spirit bright.
With younger brothers needing care,
Her dreams laid bare; her heart laid spare.

A mother's love for sons runs deep,
While a father's worry, silent, steep.
She wore a smile, hid her pain,
A joyful mask in the pouring rain.

Good in studies, a star on the field,
Yet financial storms made her dreams yield.
With hope eroded, she stepped away,
To face the world, alone each day.

Then I found her, where joy seemed lost,
A girl whose smile had paid the cost.
I offered her hope, a hand to hold,
Together, we turned her dreams to gold.

I promise, dear heart, though I may stray,
I'll stand by your side, come what may.
No more alone, through thick and thin,
In the warmth of my love, you will begin.

A River's Reflection

Her childishness, like a playful stream,
Bubbling with laughter, a joyful dream,
Meandering through life, so light and free,
Splashing with wonder, pure curiosity.

Her stubbornness, like a river's flow,
Unyielding and strong, where the currents go,
Carving its path through stone and clay,
Determined to shape the world in its way.

Her braveness, like rapids in a storm,
Charging ahead, relentless and warm,
Facing the rocks with fearless grace,
A force of nature, no challenge can trace.

Her cute fears, like ripples on the shore,
Soft and gentle, they quietly implore,
Hesitant yet brave, she splashes through,
A tender heart, facing the new.

Her possessiveness, like banks that confine,
Holding tight to the treasures that shine,
Protecting her loved ones with fierce embrace,
Guarding her waters, a sacred space.

Her forgiveness, like the calm after rain,
Washing away sorrow, easing the pain,
Gentle currents that smooth out the strife,
Bringing peace and renewal to life.

Her charity, like tributaries that feed,
Flowing abundantly, meeting each need,
Nurturing life as she travels along,
A river of kindness, endlessly strong.

In her, the spirit of a river runs deep,
A tapestry woven, where memories seep,
With each trait, a reflection so clear,
A beautiful current that draws us near.

Hearts On A Frozen Lake

Together we roam, beneath pale sky,
Our brave dog is leading, snowflakes fly.
Your soft hair dances, whispers sigh,
In evening's chill, just you and I.

I admire your spirit, each careful stride,
Your glowing skin shines, heart open wide.
Through frost and freeze, we share this space,
In nature's beauty, we find our grace.

The frozen lake glimmers, reflecting light,
In this wonderland, everything feels right.
With laughter and warmth, we embrace cold,
In the magic of travel, our story unfolds.

With every soft breath, winter air sings,
Together we wander, love gives us wings.
In this world of ice, our hearts entwined,
Through all of life's seasons, forever you're mine.

Our Campus Love

In the heart of our campus, our love found its place,
Where laughter wove melodies, time's sweet embrace.
We strolled hand in hand, leaving footprints of grace,
Exploring each corner, wild spirits in space,
A bond forged in sunlight, a treasure to trace.

Trees carrying the symbol we made,
With whispers of promises in their shade.
In the library's hush, where silence spoke,
Our eyes exchanged secrets, a bond bespoke.

In playful mischief during breaks, we danced like the sun,
With friends as our canvas, our hearts came undone.
Sweet glances like whispers, a warmth we could share,
In those cherished moments, I knew you were rare.

Every glance, a promise; every touch, a thrill,
In the rush of our youth, time stood still.
Our college days were a symphony of hues,
A masterpiece of love, where our hearts found their muse.

Though chapters may close, and paths may diverge,
In the depths of my heart, our memories surge.
Each day a treasured chapter, vibrant and bright,
A timeless story woven in love's pure light.

The Trials of Tomorrow's Bliss

In the stillness, she bears the weight,
A joyful struggle, our shared fate.
Every ache tells a story, so profound,
The happiest pain, where love is found.

Her strength shines through, though moments are tough,
Each kicks a promise, a bond that's enough.
In sleepless nights, as dreams intertwine,
I feel her heart, and it echoes mine.

In her gentle warmth, a love so deep,
A mother's embrace, where dreams softly sleep.
Through every challenge, her spirit will soar,
In this journey of love, we'll cherish it evermore.

Threshold of Eternity

In the quiet of years, our love took its flight,
Through laughter and tears, we embraced every night.
Against the storm's roar, when the world turned away,
We stood side by side, come what may.

With whispers of doubt from those who don't see,
We fought for our dreams, just you and me.
Each challenge a chapter, each struggle a page,
Our hearts grew resilient, unbound by the cage.

In the depths of despair, with our spirits worn thin,
Our teachers and friends rallied, believing in kin.
With their faith in our bond, we found strength anew,
In a world of resistance, our love only grew.

Now, on the eve of a promise that glows,
We cherish their blessings, their warmth as they flow.
Tomorrow, we'll sail on the seas of our dreams,
With love as our compass, guiding our gleams.

Here's to our journey, through laughter and tears,
To the magic we've built, strong through the years.
Side by side, we'll face whatever's in store,
For in the heart of our tale, it's love we adore.

Eve of Vows

I was excited, I was scared,
Eager for the day, yet worried and impaired.
Questions flooded my restless mind,
But seeking answers, I left behind.

My heartbeat raced, the world stood still,
In the hush of the moment, I felt a thrill.
That day, in stillness, I felt a spark,
A joy that glowed within the dark.

I thought it was an end, a final page,
Yet time revealed a new stage.
Nervousness wrapped me tight,
But joy sparkled in the night.

We stand here, supportless, it's true,
Yet in blind belief, I trust in you.
Sleepless nights, as dreams take shape,
Awaiting the magic of tomorrow's escape.

A journey begins with every vow,
With hope in our hearts, we'll make it somehow.

In the Light of Regret

You built our dreams with care,
Your love surrounds me everywhere.
I'm sorry for the times I strayed,
For moments of doubt that you faced.

You stood by me through all,
Your strength was my safety net's call.
I apologize for times I've failed,
For love sometimes feeling veiled.

You filled my life with light,
In your arms, everything feels right.
Forgive me for my careless ways,
And for lost, unspoken days.

You've given me your heart,
A bond I should never part.
I'm truly sorry for my pain,
For letting you down again.

My Pillar of Strength

In moments dark, when my spirit wanes,
You stand beside me, easing my pains.
When shadows loom and doubts invade,
Your steadfast love is the light you've made.

When my body falters, you're my guiding hand,
Lifting me gently, helping me stand.
In times of struggle, when hope feels thin,
You believe in me, urging me to win.

When finances waver and paths grow unclear,
You're my compass, my reason, my dear.
With every challenge, you dream by my side,
Your faith in me is a powerful guide.

You wish for my rise, my success in each day,
With you by my side, I'll find my way.
For all that you've given, for all that you do,
I thank you, my love, I owe it to you.

In this journey of life, you're my heart's song,
Together we flourish, together we're strong.
So here's my gratitude, wrapped in this rhyme,
For you are my partner, my love, for all time.

Shades of strength

In shadows deep, where gray clouds loom,
She wandered through the doubt and gloom.
Yet like the dawn that breaks the night,
Her spirit found its vibrant light.

Through trials thick, a palette mixed,
With every hue, her heart was transfixed.
From crimson pain to sapphire trust,
She learned to rise, to love, to lust.

Behind her steps, a canvas glows,
Her lovely boy, where joy bestows.
Though words are few, like soft pastels,
His laughter sings where silence dwells.

"Amma," he calls, a golden sound,
In that bright tone, her strength is found.
A bond like emeralds, rich and rare,
In every glance, a world laid bare.

Each day she paints, smiles anew,
For him, she strokes every hue.
A warrior forged in fiery reds,
In his embrace, all doubt she sheds.

So let the past be washed in gray,
For now, her heart's a vivid sway.
With every step, their colors blend,
A love unbroken, no end, no bend.

The Ray That Marks Our Way

In the period of pure summer,
Our love's a garden, lush and bright.
Just give me time to tend the land,
To nurture dreams with a steady hand.

The sun shines bright on every face,
Yet I fear the shadows we must face.
Please trust the rain will come again,
To awaken the blooms where love has been.

With your heart, I find my grace,
In your warmth, I've found my place.
Just a little time, I ask for you,
To prepare the soil and start anew.

Together, we'll welcome the change,
As seasons shift, and hearts rearrange.
Let's build a future, rich and bold,
Just give me time for the story to unfold.

Veil of the Dreaming Moon

In the stillness of night, when all is at rest,
She lies in repose, untouched by the test.
Her hair flows like silk, a shimmering lace,
In the soft glow of dreams, she finds her own space.

With lashes like petals, her eyes gently closed,
A serene little smile, in slumber exposed.
The moonlight caresses her delicate skin,
As if nature itself whispers sweetly within.

Each rise and fall of her gentle sigh,
Weaves a tapestry of calm beneath the sky.
In this hushed embrace, my heart finds its song,
For in her still beauty, I feel I belong.

How Could I Not See?

These are the eyes, like fireflies,
Her laughter lights up the night skies.
They flicker and dance, a soft glow,
How did I miss their magic flow?

These are the arms, tiny yet strong,
A haven where comfort feels long.
In every hug, warmth wraps me tight,
How did I miss her shining light?

These are the cheeks, soft as cream,
A canvas where joy paints a dream.
Their warmth wraps me like a song,
How did I miss where I belong?

These are the moments, bright and free,
Her spirit, a wild, wondrous spree.
A childlike heart, joyful and true,
How did I miss this love so new?

In the Wake of Broken Promises

She came with expectations, dreams in her eyes,
A heart full of hope, beneath open skies.
With laughter and light, she painted my days,
Yet shadows grew long, clouding her ways.

I broke her heart, shattered the trust,
Left her adrift, turned love into dust.
With silence that stung like a thief in the night,
I watched as her smile faded from sight.

Still, she stands with me, despite all the pain,
Her spirit unwavering, like a soft rain.
In the depths of sorrow, she finds her own song,
A beacon of strength, reminding me to be strong.

With guilt weighing heavy, I seek to amend,
To mend every fracture, to help her transcend.
I'll cherish each moment, with fervor I strive,
To nurture the love that helps her revive.

The unspoken word

In the quite moments, where shadows fall,
I've stumbled in silence, neglected the call.
For every time my heart failed to share,
The simple "sorry" that hung in the air.

When my thoughts were lost in the rush of the day,
And kindness slipped through, like sand blown away,
I didn't mean to let you feel alone,
Each unspoken word now echoes like stone.

So here in this moment, I gather my grace,
To offer you truth, to seek your embrace
For all the time I left the words unsaid,
I'm sorry for the silence, for hearts that misreads.

Let's weave back the threads of what once felt right,
With apologies whispered, let's reignite light.
For in every stumble, in every regret,
You matter to me, more than you guess.

A Candle and Confetti

With balloons all around and gifts piled so high,
People gather and whisper, the excitement nearby.
A candle flickers bright on a cake filled with light,
Chocolate delight awaits a truly sweet sight.

Songs weave through the air, creating a vibe,
As laughter and joy fill the hearts of the tribe.
Stars in your eyes, like twinkling lights,
Every moment with you feels perfectly right.

As the moon hugs the night in its soft, gentle glow,
A little knife waits, tied with a bow.
So, let's celebrate you, with love and with cheer,
This special occasion brings everyone near.

The Lament of a Lost Heart

In a bustling crowd, she danced with delight,
A symphony of laughter, hearts taking flight.
Each friend a bright star in her vibrant sky,
Yet she chose one path, leaving the joy high.

She followed a whisper, a flicker of fate,
Stepping from the warmth, into love's heavy weight.
But like a lone flower in a barren field,
Her heart was forsaken, her spirit concealed.

Once wrapped in connection, now lost in the fray,
A ghost in the laughter, where she used to play.
In the midst of the noise, she stands all alone,
Her joy turned to silence, her heart turned to stone.

The pain of her story, a secret untold,
A tale of lost warmth in the bitter and cold.
In echoes of friendships, she longs to belong,
Yet here in the shadows, she learns to be strong.

With each passing moment, she fights through the night,
A flicker of courage, searching for light.
For even in stillness, her heart will survive,
In the depths of her solitude, she'll learn to revive.

Mending Hearts in the Light of Dawn

In the shadow of my choices,
I see the hurt in your voices,
Each moment lost, it rejoices,
A heart that aches, it suffices.

Yet in the depths of sorrow,
I've found a spark for tomorrow,
A longing for what's been broken,
A chance to speak words unspoken.

If time could weave our forgiveness,
If love could mend this distance,
I'd trade my past, all my folly,
For a future where you can rally.

Let's rebuild what's been shattered,
With trust as our strong matter,
Side by side, let's take this chance,
Into a new, hopeful dance.

Blooming for You

In the depths of our weary hearts,
Where shadows linger and hope departs,
We navigate this stormy sea,
Yet in the chaos, there's still a plea.

Each tear we shed, a testament of pain,
Through tangled roots, we rise again.
With every struggle, we find our way,
For love's bright spark lights the gray.

Our child, a beacon, a radiant flame,
In their laughter, we reclaim our name.
For them, we toil, through night's embrace,
Determined to bloom in this sacred space.

Though burdens weigh and tempests rage,
Together we turn each weary page.
In whispered dreams and tender care,
We'll weave a future, bright and rare.

So, let's nurture hope with every dawn,
In the garden of love, where we've drawn.
For in the light of our child's gaze,
We'll find our strength through the darkest days.

From struggles deep, we shall emerge,
In love's fierce light, our spirits surge.
Together we'll rise, hand in hand,
Ready to bloom in this promised land.

In the Quiet of Conflict

In the battlefield's roar, where courage must soar,
A soldier fights bravely, his heart a fierce core.
With armor of longing and a spirit ablaze,
He charges for love, through the tumultuous haze.

For years, he has clashed with the world at the gate,
Defying the odds, embracing their fate.
Each skirmishes a testament to love's sacred quest,
Yet here I am waging war with the one I love best.

With every harsh word like a bullet in flight,
I'm battling you now, forgetting our light.
Why, oh my darling, have we turned to this strife?
When I fought for your hand, for a shared, joyful life.

In the trenches of doubt, I reflect on our days,
Each moment a treasure, in so many ways.
I fought for your laughter, your warmth, your embrace,
Now we're locked in a struggle, lost in this space.

The world was the foe, and I took my strong stand,
To hold you beside me, to walk hand in hand.
But the fight has grown bitter, and wounds run so deep,
As I wrestle with anger, I'm losing the peace.

With the weight of this battle pressing down on my heart,
I see that my love is the true healing art.
You are my refuge, my reason to strive,
Yet here in this conflict, I forget to revive.

So, I lay down my weapons, my heart opens wide,
Let's end this contention, stand together side by side.
For the soldier in me has fought hard for your grace,
And the poet now whispers, "Let's find our true place."

Promises on the Cart

In a small village, by a humble hut,
We sit on a cart, our hearts in a rut.
With hunger around us, our bellies feel tight,
But I have my promises, my love, and my light.

The sun dips low, painting skies with gold,
As we share whispered dreams, more precious than gold.
Though the days are long, and the nights seem to sigh,
I promise to love you, as the stars fill the sky.

With each passing moment, though our food may be few,
I hold onto dreams, the life we'll pursue.
The rope cart may creak, but our spirits are free,
For in every promise, there's hope you'll see.

I promise to cherish you, through thick and through thin,
To weather the storms, let our journey begin.
Though the road may be rough, and the path unclear,
Together, my darling, we'll conquer our fear.

So, let's sit in this moment, in the dusk's gentle glow,
With love as our guide, through the highs and the lows.
For even in hunger, with dreams to keep near,
I'll treasure each promise, for you are my dear.

In this quiet village, beneath the vast sky,
With only our hopes and the stars shining high,
We may lack for riches, but our hearts are full,
In this simple life, our love is the pull.

As night wraps around us, with whispers of fate,
I hold your hand gently, our dreams won't wait.
For in every promise, there's a world yet to see,
And with you by my side, I'm forever free.

Shorty - The Heart of Mischief

She's a tiny whirlwind, just a bit short,
With a chubby little frame, she's a love-filled fort.
Her laughter rings out like a sweet, joyful chime,
In a world that feels big, she's perfectly sublime.

With a plate piled high, she dives into each bite,
A foodie at heart, her eyes shine so bright.
From savory treats to desserts that entice,
Each meal is an adventure, oh, how she thinks twice!

But don't let her size fool you; she's fiercely devoted,
In her possessive hugs, all my worries eroded.
With a playful nudge and a twinkle in her gaze,
She claims me with love in the most charming ways.

So here's to my cutie, both short and so bold,
With a heart full of warmth and a spirit of gold.
Her childlike wonder and passion for fun,
In her little embrace, I feel like I've won.